AI ASSESSMENT — PITFALLS & OBJECTION HANDLING

What kills your first assessments — and what to say when the call gets hard.

BEFORE THE CALL 5 pitfalls that kill first assessments

01 Recommending tools you've never used. Stick to tools you know. 3 confident recommendations beat 7 you'd have to Google during the review.

02 Overloading the report. 3 strong, specific recommendations beat 7 mediocre. Push extras into a "Future Opportunities" one-line section.

03 No follow-up system. Email within 24 hours: summary + Quick Start Plan + one question — "Which recommendation are you starting with?" Calendar reminders at 1 and 2 weeks.

04 Underpricing. First assessment is free. After that, $999–$1,999. The guarantee handles the risk — never discount.

05 Scope creep during the review call. The assessment is the assessment. Implementation is a separate conversation.

DURING THE CALL Objection scripts

PRICE PUSHBACK — run the graduated response in order. Never discount the main offer.

STEP 1 — CALIBRATED HOW

> "How would the value need to show up for $1,997 to feel right?"

→ Either you learn what they actually need, or you discover they're not your buyer.

STEP 2 — REFRAME TO THE GUARANTEE

> "If we don't find one Quick Win you can ship in 7 days that recovers 5+ hours/week, you get a full refund. The risk is on me."

STEP 3 — BOUNDED FALLBACK (LAST RESORT)

Offer a 30-minute audit at $297 with a one-page summary — preserves the $999–$1,999 anchor. Many of these buyers come back at full price.

SCOPE CREEP MID-CALL — when they jump to implementation:

> "Great question. That's exactly the kind of thing we'd cover in an implementation engagement. Let's finish walking through the report first, and if you want to talk about next steps, we can set up a separate call."

"I CAN DO THIS MYSELF." Don't fight it. Ask for a testimonial. Stay in touch — many come back 30–60 days later for implementation help.

REFUND REQUESTS. Honor immediately, no friction. If you can't consistently find 5 hours of savings, fix the discovery call — not the guarantee.

THE GUARANTEE

Quick Wins that recover 5+ hours/week within 7 days — or full refund.
